Bills evolve into different versions as they are amended throughout the legislative process. Choose "All Bill Versions" to search for the term in all versions of all bills in the selected session. Choose "Include Amendments" to also search all amendment text. Search Features Stemming - Your search result may contain suffixes of the word used. This is called stemming. If you search for the word bicycle, your search will return a broad result on bicycle, bicycles, and bicycling. Multiple-word Searches - Two or more words separated by a comma. Will find returns that contain each word. Phrase Searches - Similar to multiple-word searches, except words are not separated by a comma. When federal census is entered into the search box, returns contain both federal and census. Quotation Marks - Put quotation marks around multiple words for results with the words together. When "federal census" is entered into the search box, returns contain federal census together. Boolean Operators - Specify words, exclude words, or add complex combinations of words to be queried by using Boolean Operators. AND logic retrieves records in which all terms are present. A search for dog and cat will return records with both dog and cat. The more terms you combine in a search with AND logic, the fewer results you will retrieve. A search for dog and cat and fish will result in fewer returns than just dog and cat. OR logic retrieves all the unique records containing one term, the other term, or both of them. OR logic is most commonly used to search for synonymous terms or concepts, such as "college or university". A search for dog or cat will result in records that have at least one of the terms. NOT logic excludes records from your search results. A search for dog not cat will result in records that mention dog but do not mention cat. Be careful when using NOT. The term you want may be present in records that also contain the word you wish to avoid. The vast majority of bills cite the Florida Statutes, however they can also cite the Florida Constitution or Laws of Florida. Florida Statutes Use the Citation search field to determine which bills latest version cite sections of the Florida Statutes. Bills cite the current version of the Florida Statutes at the time the bill is filed. For example, the Statues were published to reflect the changes that were made during the Legislative Session. Statute citations for bills in the Legislative Session cite the Florida Statutes. Florida Constitution Use the Citation search field to determine which bills latest version cite sections of the Florida Constitution. The field will accept roman or arabic numerals, separated by a comma or period.
