Chapter 1 : The Edson Genealogy and Family Tree Page

The conclusions advanced in the initial paragraph and the two footnotes on the third page of the pamphlet regarding the name Edson being a contraction from a word of three or more syllables, and the improbability of finding a native of England bearing it as a surname, were generally accepted, until.

The line below is currently for the progenitor of the United State branch of this family line. The immigrant, Samuel Edson, came to the United States in . The English branch is not presently included. In , a settler from the Massachusetts Bay colony arrived in Fillongley and reported "glowingly on the opportunities for settlers there". On 25 July of , Samuel applied for a grant of a site for a dwelling, and for a parcel of land for cultivation was acted on, as recorded in the Town Book, page . He did well in Salem and made additional land purchases, his property when he left therein totaled 63 acres. He sold the land and house to William Browne for 38 pounds sterling on 24 September . Samuel , Ensign John Hayward, and Deacon John Willis, agents for the Town, December , received a confirmatory deed of the Indian Chief Wampatuck, in beheld of the purchasers and the town of Bridgewater, of all the lands of that town previously conveyed by Ousamequin Massasoit on 3 March . He was foreman of a jury to lay out roads in , and again in . He, Deacon Willis, and Ensign Hayward were appointed by the town in to settle the county line between Bridgewater and Middleboro, and that same year between Bridgewater and Taunton. He was one of the first deacons of the town from to his passing. Edson received 6 acres along the south side of the river, not far from the bridge which now crosses the river near the town park. On 17 May , he purchased another share from Joshua Ren, who had moved to Salem. This share included, land and a house, as well as two sawmills. With this completed, he was given a share as one of the Proprietors of the town and with the two shares he had already purchased, he now owned three. In Samuel Edson became Freeman. Samuel Became one of the first Deacons of the church. Samuel Edson also led the choir. The Bridgewater Historical Society has a pitch pipe he used to pitch the choir. He also presented a silver communion service that is also preserved. With the war looming in , in 2 April , the Council of War, meeting at New Plymouth, appointed the Bridgewater Council of War, consisting of Samuel Edson, Nicholas Byram, and John Willis, together with the commissioned military officers of the town. The house of Reverend James Keith was made in to a garrison house for defense against possible Indian attack. During the battles before King Philip was killed, many homes in Bridgewater were burned. James Keith house stands. An six square miles area with three miles on each side of the center of the town. In ten acres of woodland was distributed to each Proprietor, from land at Titicut purchased from the Indians in . Samuel had two shares and transferred one to his son Josiah in . Samuel and Susanna are buried in the cemetery on the road from West Bridgewater, by the bridge near the Town Park towards Taunton.
