The stormy weather on Halloween evening can be blamed on a cold front that's forecast to stretch from the eastern Great Lakes all the way to the south-central states, according to the Weather Channel.

Most visitors will park at the Duck Pond Picnic Area with a free shuttle service to the main event location, the Halloween Fair main entrance at Carlisle Visitor Center. Shuttles will run continuously from the start of the event until the last visitors leave for the evening. This is the easiest way to get in and out of the event. There will be additional parking in the grassy field area at the Carlisle Visitor Center entrance of the Reservation, although we reserve the right to close some field areas due to rain and muddy conditions. How spooky is the trail at 7pm? While the trail does turn spooky at 7pm, we still maintain a family-oriented atmosphere. Our trail stays away from blood, guts, and gore, but we have plenty of spooks and startles to keep you on your toes! If a member of your group wishes to experience the trail in the evening but is apprehensive of the scare level, he or she can stay on the trail and not enter the multiple haunted walk-through attractions. Will the building be open? Where are the restrooms? There is a restroom trailer located in second parking lot, next to the Ghost Town Raceway attraction which is closest to the building. There will also be a handicap accessible portable restroom next to the restroom trailer and on the trail leading up to the Little Green Choo Train Station. Please take a look at the map for reference. Is there a cost? Children 3 and under are free! To walk the trail, everyone in the party must receive a hand stamp at the ticket booth.
