

Chapter 1 : George W. Bushisms () - Rotten Tomatoes

During his eight years in office, President George W. Bush gave us some great laughs. Many of his quotesâ€”often called Bushisms â€”were among the best political humor we saw in modern history. Yes, the late night hosts and "Saturday Night Live" did have a lot of fun with him, but we really didn't need professional comedians.

March 20 3: Follow him on Twitter. The Bushism is at 2: And I wish him all the very best. The Bushism is at Of course I do. The Bushism is at 1: But nevertheless, I want you to know I danced with joy. And no question Liberia has gone through very difficult times. The Bushism is at 0: But she thought of it for this speech. The Bushism is at 4: Therefore, it was a pleasant contrast to see the ocean. The Bushism is at 5: The Bushism is at 3: Why do you care what happens outside of America? The Bushism is at 7: And the answer is, yes, they do. These immigrants have helped transform 13 small colonies into a great and growing nation of more than people. I reject that notion. What we need is more priority. The Bushism is at 6: And I appreciate the fact that you really snatched defeat out of the jaws of those who are trying to defeat us in Iraq. Ray Odierno, Washington, D. It means a lot. Are you with us or are you not with us? And when somebody builds a new building somebody has got to come and build the building. And when the building expanded it prevented additional opportunities for people to work. The Bushism is at 8: The Bushism is at 9: And so Iâ€”we filled a lot of space together. It matters howâ€”the nature of the government in which people live. The Congress or the commanders? Petraeus is saying, some early signs, still dangerous, but give meâ€”give my chance a plan to work. The stronger the wetlands, the more likely the damage of the hurricane. I am surprised, frankly, at the amount of distrust that exists in this town. I talk to families who die. To show you how important this one is, I read it, and our guest read it. No President wants to be a war President, but I am one. These budget numbers are not just estimates; these are the actual results for the fiscal year that ended February the 30th. I want to thank you for strategizing our discussions. Houses will begat jobs, jobs will begat houses. And the answer is, yes, we will. Prime Minister, over the past months that it was not always a given that the United States and America would have a close relationship. Are you going to ask that question with shades on? Peter Wallsten of the Los Angeles Times: I can take them off. I guess it depends on your perspective. And one such goal is a democracy in Germany. This was given to us by Queen Victoria in the s, I think it was. President Roosevelt put the door in so people would not know he was in a wheelchair. John Kennedy put his head out the door. The hymn talks about serving God. The interesting thing about him is that I read threeâ€”three or four books about him last year. They use violence as a tool to do that. The best way to do it is to convince little kids how toâ€”the beauty of playing baseball. I liked them when I was young, I liked them then I was middle-age, I liked them before I was president, and I like them during president, and I like them after president. In other words, the government had declared, you are a state sponsor of terror. The cedar gave me a little scratch. But it was not a peaceful welcome. I mean, I can tell you what the headlines are. Steroids ought to be banned from baseball. The Bushism begins the clip. And we will work with the Iraqis to secure their future. And when you engage the terrorists abroad, it causes activity and action. I enjoy taking on the issue.

Chapter 2 : George W. Bushisms -- silly things alledgedly said by the president

People often assume that because I've spent the past nine years collecting Bushisms, I must despise George W. Bush. To the contrary, Bushisms fill me with affection for the manâ€”and not just.

From the Whitehouse Website "Our enemies are innovative and resourceful, and so are we. They never stop thinking about new ways to harm our country and our people, and neither do we. Bush, August 5, From the Debates. During the second debate, the president was asked to name his three biggest mistakes: President Bush, during the last four years, you have made thousands of decisions that have affected millions of lives. Please give three instances in which you came to realize you had made a wrong decision, and what you did to correct it. I have made a lot of decisions, and some of them little, like appointments to boards you never heard of, and some of them big. The Duelfer report confirmed that decision today, because what Saddam Hussein was doing was trying to get rid of sanctions so he could reconstitute a weapons program. And the biggest threat facing America is terrorists with weapons of mass destruction. We knew he hated us. We knew he tortured his own people. I did the right decision. Our recession was one of the shallowest in modern history. Now, you asked what mistakes. So basically, he said that the three biggest mistakes he made were among the appointments to boards you have never heard of, including one major appointment of a person he prefers not to name so as not to embarrass that person on national TV. Late-night TV jokesters quipped that his three biggest mistakes were agreeing to participate in the three debates. As quoted in the Los Angeles Times, Jan. Within months, I knew many of them. Bush, published November "Rarely is the question asked: Is our children learning? I understand the emotionality of death penalty cases. The west of Texas. In more ways than Washington, D. Never did it occur to me that he would become the gist for cartoonists. We want them to know how to teach the science of reading. I talk about a larger goal, which is to call upon the best of America. Part of the renewal is a set of high standards and to remind people that the greatness of America really does depend on neighbors helping neighbors and children finding mentors. I really worry about that. Revenge is so incredibly negative. And, you know, the call on that speech was, beware. This is going to be a tough campaign. I was trying to convince those college students to accept my tenants. And I reject any labeling me because I happened to go to the university. I am against hard quotas, quotas they basically delineate based upon whatever. However they delineate, quotas, I think vulcanize society. And then I have these, with very little attribution, for your entertainment: Bush "I have made good judgments in the past. I have made good judgments in the future. Bush "The future will be better tomorrow" - George W. We have a firm commitment to Europe. We are a part of Europe. Bush "Public speaking is very easy. Bush "A low voter turnout is an indication of fewer people going to the polls. Bush "We are ready for any unforeseen event that may or may not occur. Bush "Quite frankly, teachers are the only profession that teach our children.
