See this statement in context. First off the rail, I want the panel to know that I am a Liberal. Norma filled in the gaps from up until In Geoff Regan had convened an independent panel that was to bring stability and sharing into the snow crab fishery in eastern Nova Scotia. We had a lot of disharmony. There were a lot of separate groups. We were all sharing different quotas, and the time was right for this to be put to bed, to bring harmony back into the fishery. So an independent panel consisting of three individuals heard testimony from everybody who was affected by the snow crab fishery. The panel came back with nine recommendations. The minister accepted all nine recommendations, but with one recommendation he chose to put a timeframe in for when it would be implemented. That was the most contentious recommendation, the sharing formula. The panel had recommended a split from day one. It was , and that is where the problems lie. That meant that if there were a 5, tonne allotment for area 23, the pre-existing fleet would take 2, tonnes and the remaining 2, tonnes would be divided up among the quota holders who came into place. In there was a little unrest. We protested and we protested, and we were given assurances that, yes, at 9, tonnes the split would happen. So from to the fishery continued on. It had got that bad within the snow crab fishery. In the minister announced that we were going to have the 9, tonnes. We thought finally our prayers had been answered. Joan Reid, the acting area manager at DFO in , sent out a letter in February to all licence holders giving them a heads-up that science was looking at approving the 9, tonnes. We thought that was great; it was happening and nothing was going to be said. On March 25, , we attended our advisory meeting, which normally dealt with traps, season opening and closing, and soft shell. Gordon MacDonald stood up at that meeting and in his statement he confirmed what we all knew, that this permanent arrangement would take placeâ€”you have the documents I passed out for the fileâ€”that they were aware of it. So when we went to pick up our conditions, as we did the numbers we said we were shortchanged. So this is where it started. To this day, over a year later, we have not received a response from the minister other than she is sticking with her decision. But she has made a decision based on erroneous information. What we found out was that Gus van Helvoort, who was the area manager during this whole independent panel process, and who was involved in writing the management plan that was to be our bible, put his own personal briefing note into it, which should never have happened. How it went off the rails, what took place behind the scenes, what the minister said in the House of Commons We were dragged around. He called us in December and told us that we were getting our crab back and to be expecting a letter. The next we found out he was pulled off the case. Then they sent David Wells and we travelled off to Antigonish. That was a waste of time. Byrne, and this is the end result. What we want the panel to know today is that we are not giving up on this. This is a contract no matter which way. We abided by it for four full seasons. The fifth season, when we were supposed to benefit, it went off the rails, and we want to know how it went off the rails. Who got to who? I have some of those e-mails here. When they got wind of what I was up to, the freedom of information stuff was cut off. But those e-mails confirm that there was no misrepresentation, as Gus Van Helvoort tried to tell us, and that DFO misinterpreted their own documents for four full seasons and in the fifth season they decided to dust it off and go through it.

Chapter 2 : Waitr - Jackson, MS

Eggplant Josephine, sort of a Deep South coastal seafood take on Eggplant Parmesan, was a pretty famous dish when I was growing up. It was a signature dish at the White Pillars, a very popular local restaurant owned by the Mladinich family of Biloxi.
