Chapter 2 : Jackson County IA Cemetery Records

Volume Reel - Wisconsin Federal Population Census Schedules - Iowa and Jackson Counties.

Biography Abraham was born in He passed away in In he relocated to western Nebraska when his son, Henry Jackson Coon, returned from there to collect the family consisting of his parents, two brothers and a sister. They traveled by boxcar to the end of the train line at Valentine, Nebraska and went the rest of the way by team and wagon. Abraham and his son took homesteads. Jack filed in the Wounded Knee area and Abraham filed on land further south, closer to where the town of Gordon was later to be established. The older graves were dug up and moved to the new plots. Abraham did not want any of his sons to follow in his work. He seemed to think his sickness had something to do with a kind of poisoning he acquired from the stock. Abraham Coon died at his home, near Gordon, Sheridan county, Neb. He was born in Ohio, September 7, He, with his parents, moved to Indiana when a boy. After residence there of a number of years, he went to Wisconsin; thence to Iowa, and in the spring of moved to Sheridan county, Neb. The funeral services were held at his home. Many friends paid their last tribute of respect by their attendance at the funeral. He was laid to rest south of town on the school section. May the bereaved relatives, wife and children find many friends to comfort them in their sad bereavement. Raymond Coon was kind enough to send this article to me: From an article in the Sheridan County Star, dated Jan 6, on page 4: They travelled by boxcar to the end of the train line at Valentine, Nebraska and went the rest of the way by team and wagon.
