

DOWNLOAD PDF THE WASHINGTON, D.C. METRO AMERICAN RED CROSS CHAPTERS 26

Chapter 1 : American National Red Cross | The Online Books Page

The American Red Cross in the National Capital Region seeks to fulfill on a regional level the American Red Cross mission to prevent and alleviate human suffering in the face of emergencies by mobilizing the power of volunteers and the generosity of donors.

At least seven shelters were opened. The organization deployed more than 30 Emergency Response Vehicles for community food and supply distribution. A family service center was set up, and mental health counselors deployed to numerous locations. ARC International Services Department focuses on global health, disaster preparedness and response, Restoring Family Links and international humanitarian law dissemination. ARC is involved with international projects such as the measles Initiative, malaria programs in Africa, disaster response and relief efforts in response to the South Asia tsunami. Disaster preparedness and response[edit] ARC international disaster response and preparedness programs provide relief and development assistance to millions of people annually who suffer as a result of natural and human-made disasters. To respond quickly and effectively, ARC has pre-positioned emergency relief supplies in three warehouses managed by the International Federation in Dubai, Malaysia, and Panama that are used to respond to disasters. An ERU is made up of trained personnel and pre-packaged equipment that is crucial in responding to sudden, large-scale disasters and emergencies in remote locations. ARC funded recovery projects to provide transitional homes, health services, disaster preparedness, water and sanitation improvements and livelihoods development. It provided funds for school fees for affected families. Through cost-effective, community-based health interventions, ARC targets people in need and focuses on accessibility and equity of care, community participation, and integration with other community development initiatives, such as water and sanitation projects and food and nutrition programs. An example of ARC International Services health programming is the Measles Initiative , launched in , as a partnership committed to reducing measles deaths globally. The initiative provides technical and financial support to governments and communities on vaccination campaigns and disease surveillance worldwide. Leading these efforts are ARC, the U. The Measles Initiative has supported vaccination campaigns in more than 60 countries, mostly in Africa and Asia. Since , the initiative has helped vaccinate one billion children in more than 60 developing countries. The campaign was formed by leading non-governmental organizations to inspire individuals, institutions, and organizations in the private sector to support a comprehensive approach to end malaria, a devastating but preventable disease. ARC supported local Red Cross and Red Crescent volunteers in Africa who educated families and communities about malaria prevention and treatment, such as the proper and consistent use of insecticide-treated bed nets. ARC provided technical assistance and capacity-building support to its partners in difficult-to-reach communities. International tracing requests[edit] ARC handles international tracing requests and searches for families who have been separated. This service attempts to re-establish contact between separated family members. Restoring Family Links services provide the exchange of hand-written Red Cross Messages between individuals and their relatives who may be refugees or prisoners of war. When new information from former Soviet Union archives became available in the s, a special unit was created to handle World War II and Holocaust tracing services. International humanitarian law[edit] ARC International Services educates the American public about the guiding principles of international humanitarian law IHL for conduct in warfare as set forth by the Geneva Conventions of ARC provides emergency and non-emergency services to the United States military. The most notable service is emergency family communications, where families can contact the Red Cross to send important family messages such as a death in the family, or new birth. ARC can also act as a verifying agency. ARC is not involved with prisoners of war ; these are monitored by the International Committee of the Red Cross , an international body. Carney Airfield , Guadalcanal , Solomon Islands Red Cross girl, August One criticism of Red Cross services to the military stems from stories about ARC charging troops during the Second World War and Korean War token fees for "comfort items" such as toothpaste, coffee, donuts, and cigarettes and for off-base food and lodging. Stimson to Norman H. Davis, the chairman of ARC. The suggestion was that Allied soldiers were being charged money so Americans should be charged too so as to "ensure an equitable distribution among all service personnel of Red Cross resources". Eisenhower said of the Red Cross service in World War II, "The Red Cross, with its clubs for recreation, its coffee and doughnuts in the forward areas, its readiness to meet the needs of the well and to help minister to the wounded has often seemed the friendly hand of this nation, reaching across the sea to sustain its fighting men. At the invitation of the United States Army the "Donut Dollies" provided morale-boosting games to soldiers. Due to the mobility of the UH-1 Iroquois , Vietnam Donut Dollies were able to visit troops in forwarding operating positions. The documentary film A Touch of Home: In the first stories began breaking about long call times and the poor quality of response from call takers.

DOWNLOAD PDF THE WASHINGTON, D.C. METRO AMERICAN RED CROSS CHAPTERS 26

DOWNLOAD PDF THE WASHINGTON, D.C. METRO AMERICAN RED CROSS CHAPTERS 26

Chapter 2 : Franklin Square (Washington, D.C.) - Wikipedia

Colorado, hams participate with the Mile High Chapter of the American Red Cross and the Boulder County Amateur Radio Emergency Services (BCARES) as disaster communications providers. Although these two groups play different roles in a disaster, both show how hams can work together.

Transitioning from youth to a young adult volunteer included becoming more involved with Blood Services and leading the IHL Action Campaign Program for the Desert to the Sea Region for the past four years. During this time, his working group began monthly Youth Consortium conference calls for staff and volunteer youth supporters across the nation. He is now going on ten years of volunteering with the American Red Cross. Contact Bryan at bryan. Michelle Glauberzon is a student at Cornell University, where she is in the S. C Johnson College of Business. Michelle began her Red Cross journey as a Team Leader for Middlesex County where she organized staffing for blood drives in her area. She created the first Red Cross club at her high school and served as president through her senior year. As a leader, she executed scrubby bear projects for small kids, sold ghoulish grams with emergency preparedness advice, and held blood drives at her school. Through her club, she was able to join the Princeton Youth Council where she was a member for two years and was the Youth Representative for Central New Jersey Board of Directors from She loves to dance, ski, and is currently learning to improve her Russian. Contact Michelle at michelle. She has also led regional Leadership Development Conferences, annual socials, and other such outreach events. Aside from volunteering with the Red Cross, Angela also loves designing , attending hackathons, visiting museums, and [attempting] to cook. Contact Angela at angela. Outside of Red Cross, Hoyt consults for early-stage biotech startups e. He is interested in building scalable healthcare capacity for low-resource communities through med-tech solutions. Throughout his time, Ian set forth the foundations under which the board will operate under, working closely with regional chapter staff and coordinating Red Cross Clubs. Contact Ian at ian. She looks forward to lifelong service with the American Red Cross and plans to pursue a career in International Development. Contact Amisha at Amisha. Angela Zeng Angela is a student at the University of California, Los Angeles, where she is majoring in molecular, cell, and developmental biology. She has been involved with Holiday Mail for Heroes, Sound the Alarm, Shelter of Hope, as well as other fundraising and preparedness events. As a Blood Donor Ambassador, Angela has volunteered for many blood drives and coordinated blood drives for her school. Contact Angela at Angela. At the school, he has been involved with biannual blood drives, CPR trainings and disaster preparedness trainings, two award-winning International Humanitarian Law IHL Youth Action Campaigns, monthly Sound the Alarm installation events, and various community service projects. Contact Cody at Cody. She began volunteering with the Red Cross as a freshman in high school, where she became heavily involved with the leadership team in her local youth council and school club. As President of the Southwest Washington Youth Council, she led multiple disaster relief fundraisers, Leadership Development Conferences, blood drives, and more. In response to a local wildfire, she spearheaded youth-led fundraising efforts. In addition, she created several Service to the Armed Forces volunteer opportunities in her own area. From , Monica served as the Field Ambassador representing the Cascades Region and acted as a liaison for her region. Contact Monica at Monica. She began her journey with the Red Cross at the start of freshman year in high school, as club Historian. In addition to volunteering with the Red Cross, Varsha is an avid Girl Award Girl Scout who is passionate about classical dance and violin, choreographing dances and performing with her own band, respectively. She is excited to continue her service with the Red Cross in the years to come! Contact Varsha at vsvasu. Contact Sujai at Sujai. He began volunteering with the American Red Cross in the National Capital Region after becoming the president and founder of a Red Cross club in his high school. Throughout the years, Will and his club have organized numerous fundraisers raising thousands of dollars for disaster relief and participated in many Red Cross campaigns such as Holiday Mail for Heroes and Sound the Alarm. Will Chai has been recognized for his efforts by being awarded the Youth Volunteer of the Year for the National Capital Region. Contact Will at Will. Since , she has been serving in this role for the Massachusetts Region. She started as an Americorps member and developed and ran two programs. One was an award-winning tutoring program at the most diverse high school in the county with over 57 countries represented. The other was part of a national pilot with the Dept. She is passionate about working with youth and seeing youth become an integral part of the work of the Red Cross. Contact Gloria at gloria. Sign up for our Email Newsletter: Youthwire is a monthly email newsletter containing important Red Cross youth volunteer opportunities, stories, and resources. YouthWire can help you make the most of your Red Cross experience, and connect you with other volunteers from across the United States. To subscribe to YouthWire, click here.

DOWNLOAD PDF THE WASHINGTON, D.C. METRO AMERICAN RED CROSS CHAPTERS 26

DOWNLOAD PDF THE WASHINGTON, D.C. METRO AMERICAN RED CROSS CHAPTERS 26

Chapter 3 : Members : American Red Cross Youth

It maybe have been mistyped, or you may have put in a zip code outside the area the American Red Cross serves in the US, its territories and military installations around the world. Please try again. Location Nearest to ZIP Code.

Bonesmen and ancestors of Bonesmen incorporators in include Charles C. Boardman , George Dewey, William R. Miles, James Tanner, William K. Van Reypen, John M. Wilson, Simon Wolf, James R. Garfield, Gifford Pinchot, S. Shields, of Missouri; William H. Dodge , George C. Wardwell , John G. Converse, Alexander Mackay-Smith, J. Murray Crane, Henry L. Higginson, William Draper, Frederick H. Lincoln, Lambert Tree, of Illinois; A. Kaufman, of South Carolina; Alexander W. Morrow, of California; Daniel C. Gilman, Eugene Lovering, of Maryland; J. Taylor Ellyson, of Virginia; Daniel R. Noyes , of Minnesota; Emanuel Fiske, Marshall Fiske, of Connecticut, together with five other persons to be named by the President of the United States, one to be chosen from each of the Departments of State, War, Navy, Treasury, and Justice, their associates and successors, are created a body corporate and politic in the District of Columbia. Boardman family, of which she is just now the most prominent member nationally, has long been acquainted with that of William H. The Boardmans went to Washington from Cleveland, Ohio; the Tafts made their first appearance in the National capital in the early nineties, and ever since the two families have been on terms of the closest intimacy. He made the Boardman home his headquarters in Washington just before his inauguration, and he now visits it in the most familiar manner. In fact, that home is one of the few places in Washington where the President sometimes drops in to pass an evening informally. In Miss Boardman went to the Philippines with Mr. Taft, who was then Secretary of War. Shortly thereafter she induced Mr. Taft established this organization, of which Miss Boardman was the Secretary, in quarters in the War Department, where it still remains. Taft was nominated for the Presidency, but when politicians were inisisting on treating him as the heir-apparent and crowding his outer office daily, Mr. Murray Crane of Massachusetts, and that dignitary now enjoys a close intimacy with the President not only because of his official position but also because of his relationship to the Boardman family. Incidentally, Miss Boardman is a leader of the social set in Washington. New York Times, May 29, It was avery small wedding by Society standards, with only thirty-two people in the room, besides the bride and groom and two officiating clergymen. Besides Cranes and Boardmans, the guests included Mr. Henry Mosle of New York, and Mr. Pomeroy of Pittsfield, Mass. Mosle was "an attorney who handled many routine financial and legal operations for William Jarvis Boardman. She failed to win reappointment to the reconstituted executive committee in They are descendants of Rev. Daniel Boardman of Wethersfield, Yale , one of the earliest graduates. Robert McCormick, her sister, and her granddaughter, Mrs. Patterson, and Countess Cyzleki, Mme. John Hays Hammond , Mrs. Corbin and her sisters, the Misses Patten, Mrs. Walsh and her daughter, Mrs. Edward Beale McLean, Mrs. Mary McCallum, and others. Los Angeles Times, Nov. The Protocols of the Elders of Zion, Gen. Dmitri Feodorovich Trepoff, the head of the "Third Section" political police , ruled by telephone from a heavily guarded room in the Winter Palace in St. He emerged only at night to review his troops, and "passed through the streets hidden in a Red Cross ambulance. Petersburg to become Master of the Palace at Tsarskoe-Selo. Here he set himself with the aid of Count Ignatieff to influence the Czar toward reaction. They attempted to prove that the people were not ready for liberty. They organized the Black Hundreds through such willing tools as Durnovo. Trepoff, Most Hated Russian. New York Times, Sep. They never tell who the publisher was. I lived in Paris at the time. Golowinsky called on me. I did not know at first that he was in the service of the Russian Secret Police. One day he showed me and some friends a manuscript he had been working on with Maniuloff and Rachowsky. He said this manuscript proved that there existed a great Jewish conspiracy against the peace of the world. The one measure to fight this conspiracy, he said, was the wholesale expulsion of Jews from Russia. We laughed at the whole affair, but Golowinsky was proud of his achievement. I handled the manuscript several times. So did my friends, including an American lady now in this country. The manuscript was in French, all handwritten, but in different handwritings. It was on a yellow-tinged paper. I recall clearly that on the first page there was a high [sic] blot of blue ink. Later I heard that this same manuscript was published from the press of the Red Cross at Tsarskoe Selo. They were created to serve a political purpose, following the assassination of Czar Alexander II. New York Times, Feb. The local committee of the Red Cross was founded in The History of Tsarskoe Selo, A. An active and energetic promoter, Miss Boardman had been the moving force behind the Red Cross enterprise, although its endowment came from wealthy and prominent persons including J. Harriman , Cleveland H. In fact, most of the money came from New York City. Billings believed he was in charge of a scientific mission for the relief of Russia He was in reality nothing but a mask -- the Red Cross complexion of the mission was nothing but a mask," admitted Cornelius Kelleher, assistant to William Boyce Thompson, head of the US Federal Reserve Bank, who funded the charade. Frank Billings, nominal head of the mission and professor of medicine at the University of Chicago, was reported to be disgusted with the overtly political activities of the majority of the mission. The other medical men were William S. Thayer , professor of medicine at Johns Hopkins University; D. Sherman, professor of food chemistry at Columbia University; C. Post, professor of medicine at Rush Medical College; Dr. Barr, an assistant cashier at Chase, served with the special mission. Dermot Heywood Hardy , a law graduate of Georgetown University, was stenographer and secretary for the mission. After his work in Russia, he was attached briefly to the War Trade Board in Europe, employed as an attorney in the Department of Justice, and had a private law practice. Prepared by Michael Spangler. An American in the Russian Fighting. Finally, he traveled back across Russia and sailed home from China. He took many pictures, with Lt. Harold Wyckoff as his assistant. Guide to the Orrin Sage Wightman Collection. Dula was a neighbor of William Boyce Thompson. Marston, of which John D. Rockefeller was a member. New York Times, June 22, , p. President Woodrow Wilson was named as the largely ceremonial President of the Red Cross in ; in turn, he appointed the seven-member War Council of Wall Street bankers who organized the mission to Russia. Leaders of the American Red Cross. American Red Cross Museum.

DOWNLOAD PDF THE WASHINGTON, D.C. METRO AMERICAN RED CROSS CHAPTERS 26

DOWNLOAD PDF THE WASHINGTON, D.C. METRO AMERICAN RED CROSS CHAPTERS 26

Chapter 4 : American Red Cross - Wikipedia

2) Call for the American Red Cross International Response Fund to donate. 3) Mail a check to: American Red Cross, P.O. Box , Washington D.C. Due to the chaos, the Red Cross will not accept volunteers to travel to Haiti.

We cannot talk to your "PAID" staff. I recently had to attend yet another orientation and now am told will have to wait for another back ground check, history checks ,e tc. Changes need to be made but nobody is going to jeopardize their paid position for any volunteers now are they? The ARC is not what they represent to America. We are expected to make bricks without straw. We will gladly send you back all the worthless elastic bands you are forcing us to use. Maybe we need to get a union to help us get the tools we need to do our job. Yes, I understand you are saving a few dollars as the blood pressure cuffs have to have quality control checks and you have to pay someone to do that. After all they are our bread and butter. There really is a big difference. Take it from a 20 plus year ARC phlebotomist. Everyone is watching you closely! The Red Cross is no different. If you have a good chapter they will work with you. But, at the same time, you have to work with them. There are channels in every area and everyone has a boss. Be sure to use your chain-of-command. But, they know what they are doing. The Red Cross does so much good for the people in need. Negative talk helps no one. Put a human on the line and not a recorded message. What a shame that a company who take millions in as donations do not even take care of their own prior employees. I have spent the last 41 days trying to get this fixed to no avail. I am now going to call National headquarters for help. Red Cross seems to be all about money and less about compassion Aug. For family issues, he had to drop off from the course. Now considering enrolling again in September. When asking why the price difference, I was told the course now includes a stethoscope, blood pressure cuff, finger printing, the fee for the test and some other miscellaneous which was not included a month ago. All they have is a lady reading from a piece of paper and says uniform is included in new price. Can someone make some sense to these people? I am willing to pay the extra money, but give me a break here. My daughter took a baby sitting course in march that I paid I have made several attempts to get in touch with the right people regarding this matter and I get the run around or no return phone call! I would not recommend the red cross for anyone needing classes.

Chapter 5 : Washington D.C. | American Red Cross of Santa Cruz County

Division Disaster Director at American Red Cross. Location Greater Seattle Area Support Regional Red Cross chapters in building capacity to respond to disasters. Washington D.C. Metro Area.

Chapter 6 : The American National Red Cross Corporate Office & Headquarters

The American Red Cross (ARC), also known as The American National Red Cross, is a humanitarian organization that provides emergency assistance, disaster relief, and disaster preparedness education in the United States.

Chapter 7 : Skull & Bones and the American National Red Cross

American National Red Cross: American Red cross text-book on food and nutrition; a study of the basis of food selection, (Philadelphia, Pub. for the American Red cross by P. Blakiston's son & co., [c]), also by Ruth Wheeler and Helen Wheeler (page images at HathiTrust).

Chapter 8 : Chicago Tribune - We are currently unavailable in your region

Mathes was the elected Chair of the Association of Metro Managers, the 45 largest Red Cross chapters in the USA. Ms.

DOWNLOAD PDF THE WASHINGTON, D.C. METRO AMERICAN RED CROSS CHAPTERS 26

Mathes began her career with the Red Cross in at the Dallas County Chapter/Northeast Texas Division.

Chapter 9 : CEO, American Red Cross in the National Capital Region | Rotary Club of Washington, DC

• Overnight worker-in-charge of the Red Cross response to the 9/11 Pentagon attack. • The Dorothy Brunsmann Award, Arlington County Chapter, American Red Cross.